Part of Legato's national network of heartburn treatment leaders.

The Fairfield Medical Heartburn Center is a state-of-the-art diagnostic and treatment center for patients in Southeastern Ohio suffering from gastroesophageal reflux disease, also known as GERD. Heartburn is a symptom of GERD caused by acid produced in your stomach that moves into the esophagus, causing a burning in the middle of the chest.

Take the Heartburn Quiz

Yes

No

I get a burning feeling in the middle of my chest.

I often have this feeling after a meal or at night.

This burning feeling gets worse when I lie down or bend over.

Over-the-counter medicines such as acid reducers or antacids help the burning go away.

I frequently regurgitate (burp up) my food.

There is a bitter or sour taste in the back of my throat.

If you checked "yes" to one or more of these statements, there is a good chance you have GERD. Call Tonya Mundy, R.N., nurse coordinator for the Fairfield Medical Heartburn Center, at 740-689-6486 to schedule a free consultation.
